

English Literature

St Anne's College
University of Oxford

What you'll study

As your primary subject each term you can choose to work on any of the periods of literature studied by Oxford students: the course spans the whole history of English and American literature from the earliest times to the present. As your secondary subject, you can focus on a particular author or topic of your choice, or take a course in creative writing or European or World literatures.

Why study English Literature at St Anne's?

St Anne's is one of the biggest and liveliest Colleges in Oxford for literature. Our faculty members include distinguished scholars and writers, and we have a flourishing culture of student writing and arts.

How you'll be taught

- Lectures Typically 3 per week.
- Tutorials Typically 9 per term.
- Classes Typically 3 per term.

You can take this course for

The Full Academic Year	Yes
Hilary and Trinity terms only (January – June)	Yes
Michaelmas term only (October – December)	Yes

You could combine this subject with

Any other subject.

Any additional information:

St Anne's has a student literary society (LitSoc), a creative writing group and an art gallery. Our students are active in University journalism and drama.

Famous St Anne's alumnae who studied English include:

Zoë Heller – Author of novels including Notes on a Scandal and The Believers

Helen Fielding – Author of novels including Bridget Jones's Diary

Hadley Freeman – Columnist for The Guardian newspaper and published author

For further information on this subject, please see our website:

www.st-annes.ox.ac.uk/prospective/visiting-students.

St Anne's College
University of Oxford

www.st-annes.ox.ac.uk

 @StAnnesCollege

 @StAnnesCollege