

Shreya Rajani

For BAME Rep

A little bit about me:

Hi everyone! My name is Shreya and I'm a first year biochemistry student. You can usually find me playing table football in the JCR or attempting a problem sheet in the library.

I love the friendly atmosphere at St Anne's, and I'd love to give back to the community by being your next BAME rep.

Why I'm suited to the role:

- St Anne's is a diverse college, and I am passionate about ensuring that we support each other within the BAME community.
- I have experience organising events, and hope to help our community grow, drawing on my experience from attending BAME events throughout this year.
- I am organised and can manage my time well. I am efficient and get tasks done.
- I want every Stanner to feel welcomed and included at Anne's, and I am always up for a chat!

22% of undergrad students at Oxford are BAME.

I want to help us connect with each other and increase diversity at Oxford.

My aims:

1

MORE COLLEGE EVENTS

Every year, St Anne's is becoming more diverse and the BAME community is expanding. I think it is really important that BAME students in different years get to know each other, so I want to organise more trips around Oxford and have more socialising events in the JCR.

2

MORE INTER-COLLEGE EVENTS

I want us to become more involved with the BAME community across the university. I am enthusiastic about St Anne's hosting its very own BAME formal, and I want to organise BAME crew-dates as well as non-drinking alternatives.

3

NETWORKING EVENTS

I want the BAME students that have left St Anne's to remain a strong part of the community here. Hosting a networking event with BAME students and alumni would be a great way for us to continue to support and help each other. I want to invite BAME contacts to speak at Anne's.
