About me
Hey all, my name is Abena and I am a first-year medical student, currently running to be St Anne’s JCR secretary!
Studying medicine has given me key organisational and technical skills, which will be very handy in this role.
Even though I’ve only been at St Anne’s for less than a year, I feel connected to the community and would love to take on this role in helping the JCR continue to run and cater to the students of this amazing college.

Why I should be your secretary?
- I am a rapt and attentive listener, thanks to the amount of lectures in my course
- Being part of an upcoming timetable making company ‘Scheduli’ has made me familiar with administrative work and participating in vast amounts of meetings
- As an Oxford Siren, I am an avid team worker and will work alongside the members and assistants of the JCR harmoniously
- I constantly check my emails and I am a consistent email sender (my tutors can attest to this!)
- Working as part of my Borough’s Youth Forum granted me interpersonal skills that will be advantageous in this role

My aims
Engage the members of St Anne’s by using images on emails relating to events. And also taking feedback from students on the JCR and the weekly newsletter.
Inform members of upcoming JCR meetings, opportunities and developments in a delightful and enthusiastic way. Distribute information to continue dialogue through the JCR.
Communicate information about events, such as elections, activities and opportunities going on at St Anne’s in a clear and accurate way for the variation of students to understand.
Add a feature that allows events to be added to the calendar of St Anne’s members.
Also to add the St Anne’s Tiktok to the social media links in the newsletter.

Vote for Abena!
