

Matilda and Daniel for Welfare Officers!

Why Matilda?

I am a good candidate for the role of welfare rep as I'm a great listener and am always up for a chat. I'm approachable and would treat everyone's problems and concerns with equal importance no matter how big or small. I dedicate myself to everything I do so if you voted for me you'd know the job would be done well! I would actively campaign for any welfare-related changes you want to see in college and am open to any ideas that people may have.

Daniel:
He/him

From: Watford, Hertfordshire
Studying:
Geography

Matilda: She/her

From:
Southgate, London
Studying:
Classics

Why Daniel?

I think I would be a great welfare rep because I am a friendly and outgoing person. I like to think I can help people see through their problems in a calm way. I work well in groups and I'm a good communicator! I therefore feel I would make a good first point of contact for people needing further support. I have been a part of welfare groups at my sixth form, where I became good at listening to other students' concerns.

Apart from all the duties listed as pre-requisites for being welfare officers, we also have a few ideas of our own to make the position of greater service to a larger proportion of the college population!

- We're thinking of having a suggestions box for how the welfare team can improve life in college.
- We want to see more people at the welfare teas! We'll advertise them more to increase their popularity and ensure they are at a time that makes them most accessible so that more people can enjoy them!
- We'll team up with anyone at St Anne's who has a concern to help their voice be heard, whether that be in the college or in the university as a whole!

If you elect us you will not only be supported by two very competent people but also by the strength of our enduring and long-lasting friendship!

