

WOMEN'S REP- ROSIE JACOBS

Why I should be Women's rep:

- My life experiences, and particularly my time at Oxford has been heavily influenced by my identity as a woman, and so I would love to represent the views of the female identifying community
- I am friendly and a good listener and feel very passionately about responding to individuals and enacting change accordingly
- I am dedicated to improving the lives and experiences of female-identifying individuals throughout Oxford
- I have had experiences with the college and other Oxford bodies in relation to experiences which disproportionately effect women giving me some insight

About Me:

I am a fresher studying History and Politics but other than being a bit of a political nerd, I love a party with my friends, my dino slippers, and being both a Dave and Taylor Swift stan

I would describe myself as chaotic but responsible and very loyal

As Cliché as it sounds, Annes has become a home for me, and I would love to give back. However, it also has proven to be imperfect and so I would love to enact some changes

My Objectives:

- To have a bar night for all female-identifying members of the community
- To continue with and increase the regularity of the sanitary product scheme
- Communicate the college schemes for supporting female-identifying individuals right from fresher's week. This is inclusive of improving the transparency of the reporting scheme within college and communicating the help available throughout the university

I also aim to be a friendly face with whom everyone can chat to
