

SIMON FOR JCR PRESIDENT

About me

Hi again! I'm Simon, a first year chemist applying to be your next JCR President. When I'm not doing my 45th tutesheet of the week, I can usually be found in the library procrastinating said tutesheet. Over the last 2 terms, Anne's has been the hub of so many incredible experiences for me, and I would love the opportunity to not only maintain but cultivate the uniquely friendly Stanners atmosphere.

My aims

For the Anne's Community

I will base all my decisions and ideas around sustaining the pre-existing sense of community at Anne's, but will work to implement any ideas the student body (you!) have that would improve it. My main goal is to ensure the JCR remains an open space for discussion where everyone feels supported and encouraged to put forward opinions and propositions. I aim to build on our current inter-collegiate connections to provide the Anne's community with more uni-wide events. One example will be the creation of a ball committee in Trinity 2022, who will immediately begin planning for a 2023 ball! I am also determined to acquire a new tortoise (and enlist a tortoise ranger).

For Welfare

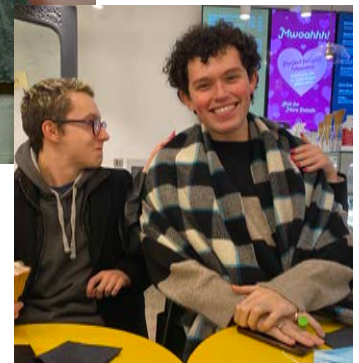

I will work with the welfare reps to improve the accessibility of welfare options within college. I plan to diversify the setup of welfare events (e.g. not just teas), so everyone feels comfortable with at least one.

For the BAME, LGBTQIA+ and International communities

As JCR President I will commit to providing an array of provisions and social events that ensure everyone in the Anne's community feels welcome and included. Beyond socials, I will work with the reps of all sub-communities to ensure the college remains a safe and supportive space for all.

For the wider community

I will work with the college to ameliorate the colleges impact on the environment, as well as continuing our involvement in charitable events.

My experience

In my previous roles as prefect, head of sixth form committee and deputy head boy, I spent a lot of time organising events and representing student body opinions. I also set up and ran BAME, Women's and LGBTQIA+ steering groups to direct the school's approach to tackling issues pertaining to each. I founded and was president of the environmental impact society, and worked in tandem with the borough to make the school certified eco-friendly.

My current position as Fresher's Rep has been a very informative experience. It has allowed me to liaise with the freshers to convey information from the JCR. Thanks to this, I feel as though I have an insightful understanding of the overarching opinions of both groups. Working closely with the current JCR President has helped me learn the ropes of the role, and ensure that any concerns of the 1st years were resolved.

My primary intentions as JCR President are to listen to the opinions and enact the ideas of the Anne's community.

Vote Simon!
