

St Anne's Visiting Students FAQs

When can I study at St Anne's?

We welcome Visiting Students to study at St Anne's for the following study durations:

- Oxford Academic Year – Michaelmas, Hilary and Trinity terms
- Extended Oxford Academic Year – September plus Michaelmas, Hilary and Trinity terms
- Fall Term – September plus Michaelmas
- Michaelmas Term only – strong preference is for Fall term above
- Hilary AND Trinity Terms only

We encourage our Visiting Students to study here for a full academic year because we believe that is the best way to immerse yourself in the full Oxford experience and fully engage in its unique educational system.

What subjects and how many can I study at St Anne's?

One of the defining features of Oxford teaching and learning is academic immersion, usually in studying a single subject, or in studying two complementary subjects.

Visiting Students can apply to study most of the subjects available to St Anne's undergraduates. For further information, please see the course catalogue and selection page.

If you apply for the extended academic year or academic year you can apply to study up to two subjects. If applying to study two subjects it is preferable if these are taught jointly at Oxford, or are complementary subjects e.g. two humanities subjects.

If you apply for a shorter study duration you are recommended to apply to study one subject or two subjects which are taught jointly.

Please note it is not possible to study Engineering with any other subject regardless of study duration.

In order to study joint subjects a visiting student needs to be studying both subjects at their home institution already. It is possible you may only be offered a place to study one subject, rather than both, if you are not deemed to have sufficient background in both subjects.

What are the fees and costs for the Visiting Student Programme?

Visiting Student fees are published annually in the autumn, and provided to your study abroad office and/or study abroad provider. The University updates living costs on an annual basis as well. Please familiarise yourself with this information and be sure you can meet the costs of attending before submitting your application. We cannot offer visiting students scholarships but many visiting students receive support and funding through their home institutions, other scholarship funding or government financial aid. Please speak with your home institution regarding these options.

How do I apply?

Interested applicants need to submit our St Anne's College application form along with academic transcripts, letters of reference, a statement about why you want to study at Oxford and some additional information.

We require a GPA of 3.7 (out of 4) or the equivalent and applicants must have met the University's English language requirements at application. Please our how to apply page for further details.

What are the English language requirements?

All teaching at the University of Oxford is carried out in English (with the exception of some language-specific teaching) and tutors must be assured that you have sufficient fluency in written and spoken English to cope with your course from the start.

If you are a non-native English speaker, or have not been taught in English at university level for at least the two years prior to application (not prior to arrival in Oxford) you are required to provide evidence that you meet the University's English language requirements with your application. Please ensure you meet the higher-level requirements as most subjects require these. If required you MUST attach evidence (eg. TOEFL, IELTS certificate, secondary school or high school diploma, International Baccalaureate certificate etc.) of how you meet the University's English language requirements with your application.

I am a non-native English speaker currently in my second year of college in the United States. According to the application form, I need two years of university level English instruction before applying to St. Anne's. I went to high school in the United States, so would my high school diploma suffice as evidence for my fluency?

If you completed your high school education in an English-speaking country and you continued on to university study in English, then you can submit your high school diploma as proof of fulfilling the English language requirement.

For science subjects such as mathematics, or biochemistry, what type of written work should I submit as part of my application?

You can submit essays, lab reports, practice sheets, other report/s or past test/s or exam/s as evidence of academic work in your subject area, or another kind of report or assignment you have completed as part of your academic studies. We would ideally like to see how you construct an essay or argument and how you present scientific or mathematical information.

Your academic work must be in the subject/s you are applying to study at Oxford, or the nearest possible equivalent.

My referees would prefer to send their references to directly to you rather than them being submitted as part of my application. Is this possible?

Yes, please ask your referees to send the references to visiting.students@st-annes.ox.ac.uk clearly stating your name and reference in the subject line.

How is my work at Oxford graded?

Visiting Students are not eligible to sit University examinations. Visiting Students receive grades based on their academic work during the term. A student's subject tutor will provide a report at the end of each term which includes comments on the student's work as well as a numerical or letter grade. Tutors use the Oxford system of grading in their reports and they grade Visiting Students according to Oxford standards.

A transcript, providing details of the courses completed and grades attained, is issued to each visiting student following completion of their studies at St Anne's.

Where would my accommodation be?

For the 2023-24 academic year, visiting students will be housed in single en-suite (private bathroom) furnished rooms on the main College site with other undergraduates. There are shared kitchens and internet access. Accommodation is guaranteed to visiting students and available during the Oxford vacation (depending on your terms of study) at no additional cost. You may remain in College during the vacations, or leave your belongings in your room and come and go as you wish.

Where would I have my meals?

At mealtimes most students choose to use the Dining Hall, which is a focal point of College and serves breakfast, lunch and dinner on weekdays and brunch at weekends during term time. College subsidises the cost of food so meals are relatively inexpensive.

Our kitchen has its own Instagram page where you will be able to find photos of dishes and events that the chefs have produced in the past. Follow them at @st_annes_kitchen

St Anne's also has a coffee shop and bar. You can use your meal card at all of these facilities.

What support is available for Visiting Students at St Anne's?

We have an excellent reputation for student welfare at St Anne's and we encourage Visiting Students to be familiar with what's available. The 'welfare team' includes members of the Decanal Team, College Officers, health and counselling professionals and students – JCR and MCR welfare reps and peer supporters.
